Acquired prediction of a retained passive device

Permanent spring · finite measurements · independently compiled numerical output

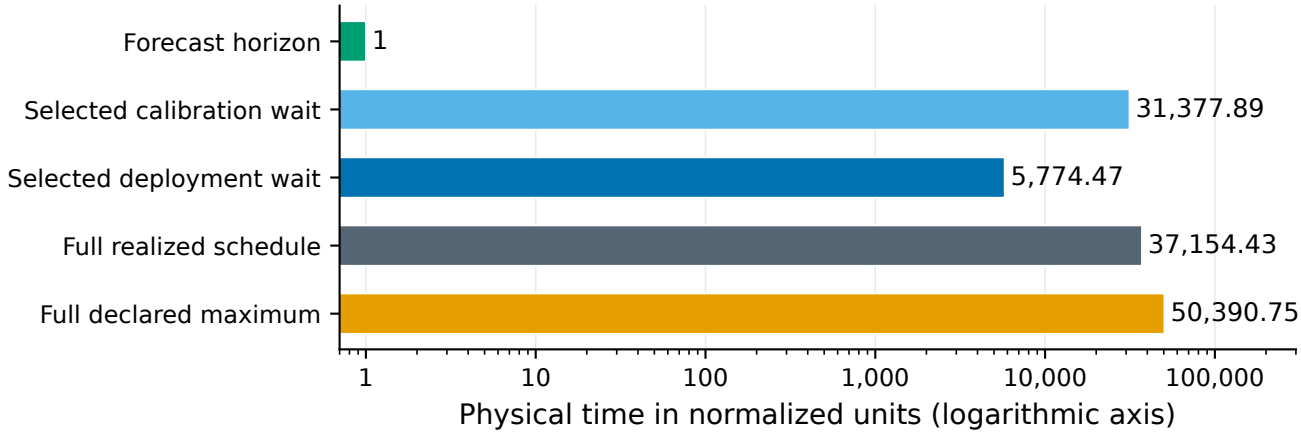

A Finite-box acquisition of the response

B Prediction from the retained state

C Full physical time, including idle waits

Source curves are floating simulation diagnostics. The bands follow from the conditional acquisition and prediction theorem; sampled agreement does not prove them.
One initial state · zero source resets · 102 position boxes.